Implementation examples: THE PLATFORM ANALYSIS

These cases show effective ways to tackle specific problems and challenges, taking into account the context, resources and institutional settings characterising each region and country.

This month, the example relates to the question of selection criteria and process, with a special focus on Romania. In order to boost entrepreneurial activities in the areas of S3, the country has developed calls targeting start-ups and spin-offs to finance the realisation of new or significantly improved products based on research results (industrial research / experimental development).
