Focus on Scaling Up

The Scaling-up Strategy presents five steps:

- Step 1 - Building a repository of good practices
- Step 2 - Assessment of viability of good practices for scaling-up
- Step 3 - Classification of good practices for replication
- Step 4 - Facilitating partnerships for scaling-up
- Step 5 - Implementation: key success factors and lessons learned

Operational focus

- Revised action plans implementation for 2016 > Focus of outputs (Sprints)
- Support Communications Campaign on 2016 Reference Sites
- Roll out twinning support scheme for 2016 Reference Sites
- Strengthen horizontal initiatives:
 - Innovative Practices repository & Monitoring and Assessment Framework (MAFEIP)

Conference of Partners

- European Summit December 5-8th December 2016

2.2. 2016 Call for Reference Sites

WHY A NEW CALL

- Reference Sites are a critical component of the EIP on AHA Scaling-Up Strategy
- Demand from existing / and new Reference Sites to re-launch the process
- Reference Sites and Action Groups are both components of the EIP on AHA

LEARNINGS & "WHAT'S DIFFERENT "

- Reference Site status should be the beginning (and not the end in itself) – path for development
- Quadruple Helix becomes a key component / aspiration (Govt, Academia, Industry and Civil Society)
- Participation in EIP on AHA Action Groups (through Commitments)
- Dynamic process – possibility of request for reassessment after 1 year
- Communication Resources focused on showcasing the RSs
- Twinning support available (2016-2017) to enable / accelerate sharing of innovative practices

2.2. 2016 Call for Reference Sites

WHY SHOULD I BECOME A REFERENCE SITE?

- Benefit from an international network of organisations and experts (able to share good practices and experiences)
- Reward by recognition of "achievement"
- Access to tools and activities that can support you in driving your strategic priorities at a regional level

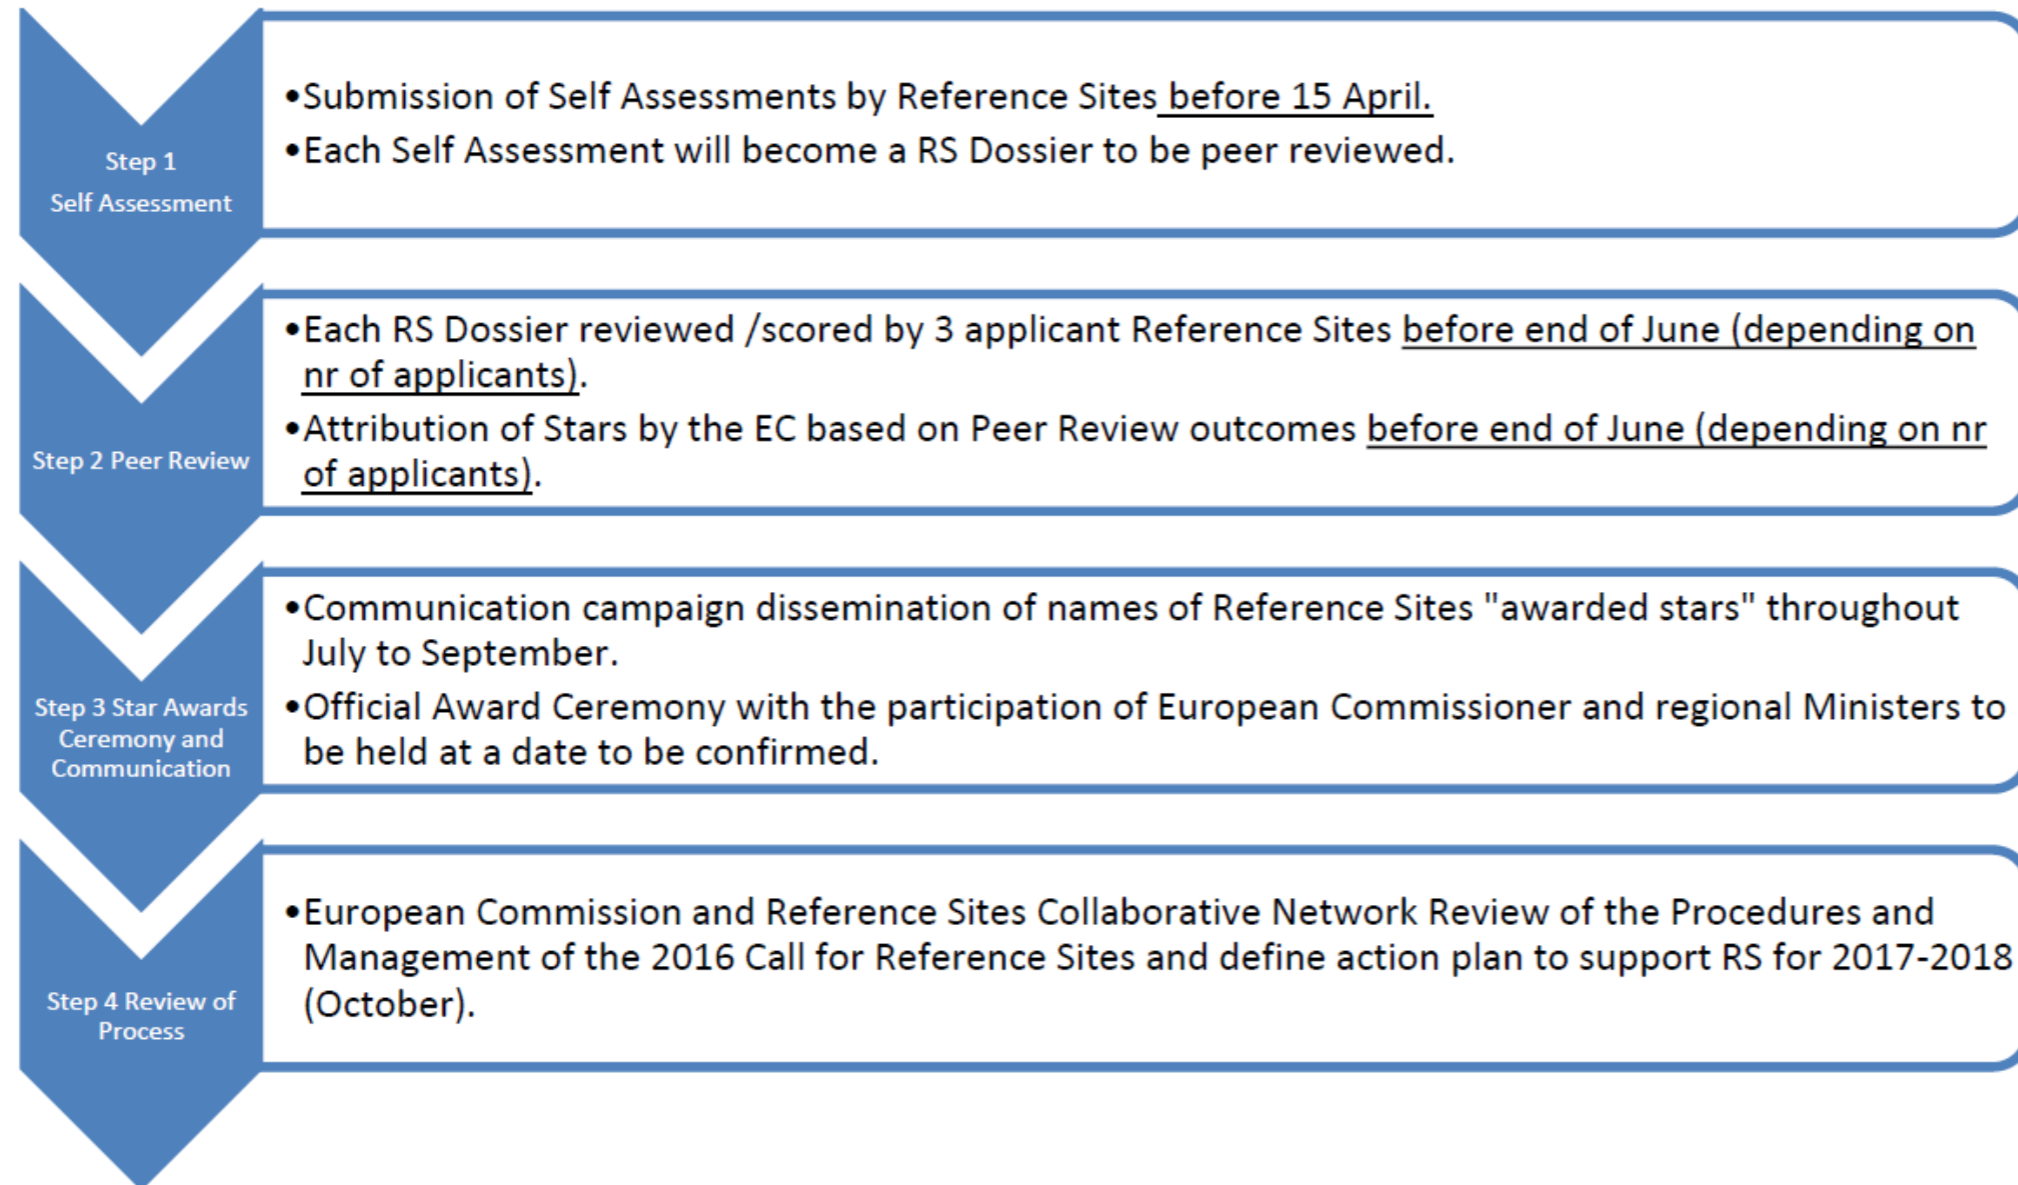

WHAT YOU SHOULD NOT EXPECT

- You should not expect automatic EC funding as a result of gaining Reference Site status OR as a result of participating in the EIP on AHA.
